THE HALIGRIC YEARLY MEAL GUIDE

Regional Tetralty Alignment

Volume II: New England & The Northeast

Bioregional Fortification for the Frozen Thaw to the Coastal Autumn & Nor'easter Deep Winter

The New England Philosophy

The New England Haligric Guide is calibrated for Northern Atlantic soils, maritime chill, short intense summers, and deep interior cold. As seasonal climate shifts accelerate, maintaining internal biological balance with your immediate bioregional landscape becomes paramount. This guide delivers the cellular resilience and metabolic grounding required to insulate against Nor'easters, navigate persistent spring dampness, and flourish through the northern seasons.

The Calendar Decoder

Schedules are organized by recurring date sequences (e.g., 1/8/15/22). These represent the Day of the Week (e.g., every Monday of that 28-day cycle).

Batch Tetralty Prep: Repetition is the anchor of cellular alignment. By preparing and repeating the same Tetralty each Monday throughout the month, you remove kitchen friction and allow your digestive fire to sync effortlessly with the regional climate shifts.

The Tetralty Formula

Every day is a Tetralty: One Grain + One Green + One Protein + One Digestive Seal. This four-fold structure mirrors the four pillars of Haligricity — Thinking, Feeling, Doing and Being — ensuring cellular satiety, elemental balance and metabolic equilibrium without digestive fatigue. Every meal conforms to the Haligric Tetralty: One Grain + One Green/Vegetable + One Protein. In New England, we prioritize warming grains like Buckwheat, Spelt, and Rye during the long freeze, mineral-rich Atlantic sea greens (dulse and kelp), sweet storage roots, and 100% clean, soy-free plant proteins to protect your kidney Jing and steady blood viscosity year-round.

The Seal is a small digestive finisher taken after lunch and dinner. It completes the six Vedic tastes and needs no cooking: a warm Digestive Brew (cumin, coriander, fennel, ginger and lemon) in the damp and spring months, a cooling brew or fresh fruit in peak heat, a Spiced Orchard Anchor of gently stewed fruit in late summer and autumn, and a Mineral Jing Truffle (a date filled with tahini or nuts) in deep winter. No refined sugar — sweetness comes only from fruit, dates and warm spices.

The Haligric Yearly Meal Guide

Volume II: Spring Quarter • March: New England Edition (The Mud Season & Thaw)

WEEKS 1–4: EARLY SPRING NORTH ATLANTIC ALIGNMENT

March in New England is 'The Mud Season.' As the frozen ground thaws and snowmelt runs off the hills, the energy shifts into the Wood Phase. To maintain Haligricity, we focus on Smoothing the Liver Qi and Clearing Winter Dampness. We use sweet overwintered parsnips, pungent leeks and bitter dandelion greens to wake the body gently from the long freeze.

The Haligric Yearly Meal Guide

Volume II: Spring Quarter • May: New England Edition (The Verdant Emergence)

WEEKS 9-12 • THE VERDANT EMERGENCE • WOOD TO FIRE INTEGRATION

Late May and early June bring genuine warmth to New England. Lilacs bloom, asparagus peaks in the river valleys, and sugar snap peas climb the trellises. We anchor the digestive center (Stomach/Spleen) with lighter grains like quinoa and amaranth while maintaining moderate warmth to prevent sudden coastal chill fatigue.

The 28-Day Tetralty Schedule (New England Weeks 9-12)

Days 9/16/23/30
BREAKFAST	Warm Millet w/ Fresh Strawberries
LUNCH	Quinoa, Sugar Snap Peas, Red Lentils

The Haligric Yearly Meal Guide

Volume II: Summer Quarter • August: New England Edition (The Late Ripening)

WEEKS 21-24 • THE LATE RIPENING • EARTH TRANSITION PHASE

Late August signals the turning point. Fog rolls over the rocky coastline at night, and goldenrod blankets the hillsides. Governed by the Earth Element in traditional medicine, this period requires drying excess dampness with barley and millet while preparing the body for the crisp winds of autumn.

The 28-Day Tetralty Schedule (New England Weeks 21-24)

Days 21/28/35/42
BREAKFAST	Warm Millet w/ Ripe Blackberries
LUNCH	Barley, Steamed Green Beans, White Beans

The Haligric Yearly Meal Guide

Volume II: Autumn Quarter • September: New England Edition (The Orchard Frost)

WEEKS 25-28 • THE ORCHARD FROST • EARLY METAL & LUNG PHASE

September brings crisp morning frost across the orchards of Vermont, New Hampshire, and Massachusetts. In TCM, Autumn is ruled by the Metal Element, governing the Lungs and Large Intestine. We counter crisp dry air with moistening apples, pears, daikon radishes, and root vegetables to protect mucous membranes and steady the breath.

The 28-Day Tetralty Schedule (New England Weeks 25-28)

Days 25/32/39/46
BREAKFAST	Steel-Cut Oats w/ McIntosh Apples & Cinnamon
LUNCH	Wild Rice, Roasted Delicata Squash, Red Lentils
DINNER	Millet, Seitan strips, Sautéed Radishes
THE SEAL	Spiced Apple Anchor (Cinnamon & Cardamom)

The Haligric Yearly Meal Guide

Volume II: Autumn Quarter • October: New England Edition (The Crimson Canopy & Gathering)

WEEKS 29-32 • THE CRIMSON CANOPY • METAL GATHERING & JING BUILDING

October displays the peak foliage of northern hardwoods. As leaves drop, biological energy moves deep into roots and tree sap retreats underground. We mimic nature by consolidating our "Jing" (deep life essence) with butternut squash, purple-top turnips, local cranberries, and hearty walnuts.

The 28-Day Tetralty Schedule (New England Weeks 29-32)

Days 29/36/43/50
BREAKFAST	Warm Steel-Cut Oats w/ Cranberries & Walnuts
LUNCH	Wild Rice, Roasted Turnips, Seitan

The Haligric Yearly Meal Guide

Volume II: Autumn Quarter • November: New England Edition (Root Cellar Solidification)

WEEKS 33-36 • THE ROOT CELLAR SOLIDIFICATION • INTERIORITY PHASE

November strips the trees bare. Flurries dust the higher elevations, and the ground hardens with overnight freezes. We transition fully to root cellar staples: sugar pumpkins, storage cabbage, beets, and warming spices like ginger, black pepper, and rosemary to stimulate circulation as temperatures plummet.

The Haligric Yearly Meal Guide

Volume II: Winter Quarter • December: New England Edition (Deep Maritime Cold)

WEEKS 37-40 • DEEP MARITIME COLD • EARLY WATER ELEMENT & KIDNEYS

December brings sub-freezing temperatures, maritime sleet, and early dark afternoons. In TCM, this begins the Water Element phase, which governs the Kidneys and the skeletal system. We use warming buckwheat, dark black beans, and mineral-packed Maine sea greens (dulse and kelp) to fortify bone density and preserve internal Yang.

The 28-Day Tetralty Schedule (New England Weeks 37-40)

Days 37/44/51/58
BREAKFAST	Warm Buckwheat w/ Walnuts & Dried Cranberries
LUNCH	Wild Rice, Roasted Rutabaga, Black Beans
DINNER	Millet, Steamed Kale & Dulse, Seitan
THE SEAL	Jing Truffle (Date & Tahini)

1. Atlantic Dulse & Black Bean Kidney Fortifier

The Tetralty: Buckwheat Groats (Grain) + Roasted Rutabaga & Maine Dulse (Green/Root) + Black Beans (Protein) + Jing Truffle (Date & Tahini) (Seal)

1. Simmer dry black beans with a strip of Maine kelp or kombu, garlic cloves, and bay leaf until creamy. 2. Roast rutabaga chunks until sweet and tender. 3. Serve over steaming kasha (toasted buckwheat groats). 4. Garnish with a sprinkle of Maine sea dulse flakes. In TCM, salty, mineral-dense sea vegetables directly nourish Kidney Jing during peak winter cold.

December: Categorized New England Shopping List

The Haligric Yearly Meal Guide

Volume II: Winter Quarter • January: New England Edition (Nor'easter Chill & Frozen Soil)

WEEKS 41-44 • NOR'EASTER CHILL & FROZEN SOIL • DEEP WATER & BONE HEALTH

January brings howling blizzards and sub-zero wind chills. The earth is locked under hard ice. Our practice focuses entirely on 'Warming the Kidneys' and 'Steeling the Bones.' Deep red beets build rich red blood cells, hearty black beans fortify essence, and high-calcium winter greens protect skeletal integrity.

The 28-Day Tetralty Schedule (New England Weeks 41-44)

1. Deep Red Blood-Builder: Roasted Beets & Black Beans

The Tetralty: Buckwheat Groats (Grain) + Roasted Red Beets & Greens (Root/Green) + Black Beans (Protein) + Jing Truffle (Date & Tahini) (Seal)

1. Roast whole unpeeled beets wrapped tightly until fork-tender; slip skins off and dice into jewel cubes. 2. Simmer black beans with minced ginger, garlic, and a pinch of allspice. 3. Toss with roasted beets and serve hot over buckwheat kasha. This formula directly builds hemoglobin and protects internal warmth during blizzards.

The Haligric Yearly Meal Guide

Volume II: Winter Quarter • February: New England Edition (The Late Thaw & Ascending Qi)

WEEKS 45-48 • THE LATE THAW & WHISPERING WOOD • ASCENDING QI TRANSITION

Late February and early March in New England bring the first stirrings beneath the snow. While sub-freezing mornings persist, midday solar angle steepens. We maintain deep Kidney support with root vegetables while introducing early pungent scallions, sprouts, and lemon zest to gently awaken Liver Qi for the coming spring cycle.

The Haligric Integration: Grounding the Northern Circle

In the New England bioregion, longevity and vitality depend on rhythmic consistency against drastic seasonal swings. When winter howling winds rattle your window frames, nourish the Kidney root with black beans, buckwheat, and dulse. When the short, brilliant summer arrives, celebrate with native sweet corn, blueberries, and summer squash without abandoning the Warm Rising morning anchor. By holding true to the One Grain + One Green + One Protein Tetralty, your internal fire remains steady through every gale and thaw.
