THE HALIGRIC YEARLY MEAL GUIDE

Regional Tetralty Alignment

Volume IV: The Rockies & High Plains

Bio-Regional Fortification for High-Altitude Resilience

The Mountain Philosophy

The Rockies Haligric Guide is calibrated for high-altitude metabolic demands and extreme environmental shifts. In an era of changing climate patterns, maintaining internal "fire" through thin air and dry blizzards is essential. This guide provides the nutritional density needed to protect your energy (Jing) against the bone-deep mountain cold.

The Calendar Decoder

Schedules are organized by date groups (e.g., 1/8/15/22). These represent the Day of the Week (e.g., every Monday).

Logic: Repetition is the key to biological alignment. By eating the same Tetralty every Monday for a month, you reduce decision fatigue and allow your body to lock into the seasonal rhythm at a cellular level.

The Tetralty Formula

Every day is a Tetralty: One Grain + One Green + One Protein + One Digestive Seal. This four-fold structure mirrors the four pillars of Haligricity — Thinking, Feeling, Doing and Being — ensuring cellular satiety, elemental balance and metabolic equilibrium without digestive fatigue. In the Rockies, we prioritize warming grains like Rye and Buckwheat during the long winter and utilize moisture-retaining roots to combat the high-desert dryness.

The Seal is a small digestive finisher taken after lunch and dinner. It completes the six Vedic tastes and needs no cooking: a warm Digestive Brew (cumin, coriander, fennel, ginger and lemon) in the damp and spring months, a cooling brew or fresh fruit in peak heat, a Spiced Orchard Anchor of gently stewed fruit in late summer and autumn, and a Mineral Jing Truffle (a date filled with tahini or nuts) in deep winter. No refined sugar — sweetness comes only from fruit, dates and warm spices.

The Haligric Yearly Meal Guide

Volume 1: Spring Quarter • March: Rockies & High Plains Edition

WEEKS 1-4: HIGH-ALTITUDE SPRING ALIGNMENT

In the Rockies, March is still a 'Winter-Spring' hybrid. To maintain Haligricity at high altitudes, we focus on Deep Moistening to combat extreme dryness and Waking the Liver to move stagnant winter energy. We use stewed fruits to generate fluids and pungent greens to break the mountain chill.

1. Sauté sliced leeks in olive oil until soft. 2. Add seitan medallions and a splash of vegetable broth to prevent drying. 3. Finish with fresh spinach. The pungent leeks move the Liver Qi, while the moisture protects the lungs in thin mountain air.

2. Deep-Moistening Stewed Pears

1. Peel and slice pears. 2. Simmer with a tiny bit of water, cinnamon, and a slice of ginger until soft and juicy. 3. Serve over warm amaranth. This is critical for high-altitude dwellers to prevent 'Lung Dryness' and 'Internal Wind'.

The Haligric Yearly Meal Guide

Volume 1: Spring Quarter • April: Rockies & High Plains Edition

WEEKS 5-8: MID-SPRING HIGH-ALTITUDE ALIGNMENT

In the Rockies, April brings the 'Great Wind.' As the snow melts, the air remains brutally dry. To maintain Haligricity, we focus on Anchoring the Yang to prevent internal restlessness (Wind) and continuing to Nourish the Yin. We use bitter-pungent Radishes to move the Liver and heavy Root Vegetables to stay grounded against the mountain gusts.

1. Roast asparagus with a light coating of olive oil. 2. Sauté seitan with garlic and a hint of cumin. 3. Serve over warm farro. Asparagus is a natural diuretic that clears heat, while farro provides the dense "Earth" energy needed to stay centered at high altitudes.

The Tetralty: Wild Rice (Grain) + Radishes (Green/White) + White Beans (Protein) + Fennel & Mint Brew (Seal)

1. Slice radishes and sauté with their greens until tender. 2. The pungent heat of the radish moves stagnant Liver Qi, helping the body adjust to the rapid spring transitions in the mountains.

1. Sauté seitan medallions. 2. Add fresh asparagus spears and a splash of water to steam in-pan. 3. Quinoa is cooling and hydrating, while asparagus moves the Liver Qi, making this a perfect Rockies spring transition meal.

2. Rhubarb Heat-Drainer Rising

1. Simmer chopped rhubarb with ginger and a touch of maple syrup.
2. Serve over warm quinoa. The sourness and bitterness of rhubarb specifically 'drain' the rising Liver Heat that can lead to headaches and agitation in the high-mountain spring.

Volume 2: Summer Quarter • June: Rockies & High Plains Edition

WEEKS 13-16: EARLY SUMMER HIGH-ALTITUDE FIRE ALIGNMENT

June in the Rockies brings the 'Intense Fire.' With thin air and high UV exposure, the primary threat to Haligricity is 'Yin Scorching.' We focus on Nourishing the Heart while Guarding the Fluids. We use bitter-cool greens to clear Heart-Fire and cooling red Apricots or Berries to protect the internal moisture from the high-desert sun.

1. Lightly sauté summer squash with fresh basil and a splash of water to keep it moist. 2. Sauté seitan. 3. Serve over quinoa. In the Rockies, the high UV can cause 'Heart-Fire' agitation; quinoa is the ultimate cooling grain to stabilize your Shen (spirit).

2. Apricot & Berry "Fluid-Guard" Breakfast

1. Lightly warm fresh berries or apricots (which are plentiful in mountain orchards). 2. Serve over warm amaranth. In TCM, apricots 'generate fluids' and help moisten the lungs—a mandatory practice for mountain living during the peak dry heat of summer.

The Haligric Yearly Meal Guide

Volume 3: Autumn Quarter • October: Rockies & High Plains (The Sharp Edge)

WEEKS 29-32: MID-AUTUMN HIGH-ALTITUDE ALIGNMENT

*October in the Rockies is 'The Sharp Edge.' As mountain winds increase and nights drop below freezing, we focus on Consolidating the Exterior and Transforming Phlegm. The Tetralty: Rye (Grain) + Cabbage (Green) + Black Beans (Protein) + Jing Truffle (Date & Tahini) (Seal)

1. Sauté shredded cabbage with plenty of garlic and fresh ginger. 2. Add cooked black beans. 3. Serve over rye. Rye and ginger specifically target the Kidney Yang, providing the internal fire needed for mountain winters.

2. Kelp & Garlic Savory Rising

1. Prepare savory teff or steel-cut oats. 2. Stir in kelp flakes and minced garlic sautéed in a tiny amount of sesame oil. In TCM, the saltiness of kelp 'softens hardness' and guides energy to the Kidneys during the peak of the Water phase.
